I Just love it.
Simple and fun.

Can I link mine Steam version with the Android version on Google Play?
It would be great if all user could do that.

Consider releasing DLC from Japanese musics.
Enka, Anime Themes, Drama Themes, Movie Themes, and stuff. (I could help with that.)
Me and my friends would appreciate it very much.

. What an amazing program! I've been looking for a program like this. The music is beautifully delivered, clear, and with great ease. The demonstrations are simple but extremely effective effective in showing any skill player how to join in beautiful music... even the paramaters of each song is customizable... struggling... slow the song down... need a crazy rush, speed it up... want to change your accopaniment... so many ways to make the experience rewarding and enjoyable. I myself, am an amateur musician, but my wife is proffessionl musician, and she was impressed (and that's not easy to do). Highly recommend it!!!. can't play.lots of noise when i enter the song music.

but the menu music is ok. i dont know why.

i use mac os el capitan. Absolutely brilliant. I'm an accomplished guitarist and I've also got Rocksmith but this is great.

Want to have a twang, pick the guitar up and genuinelly have a nice time playing stuff you'd never ever dream of while just chillaxing? This is brilliant. Love it.. thankfully Steam lets you return stuff now. I tried this, played about 5 or 6 songs and every one of the was wrong. The Judas Priest stuff that's in there isn't even remotely close. Plus you will not learn actual riffs for songs that anyone would recognize, only a highly simplified version of the song. If you don't need acuracy and you don't care about playing a song that anyone would actually acknowledge as the song you're playing then this game may be for you. If you actually want to play real music that your friends will recognise maybe look at rocksmith.. This game is good if you want to practice strumming and chord changes. If you are new to the guitar you can learn chords through Justinguitar.com. He is one of the best online instructors out there. This game would be a lot better if you could hook up a microphone so it can hear you play, letting you know how you did. It would make the points system on this game make sense. As of now you dont have to play in order to increase points and you could be terrible at playing and get same points as you would if you were great.

May I suggest to Musopia to make the pc version like the app version for ios. However I will not download the app to my phone because I will not subscribe to a monthly service. This game has a lot of potential so please make it better. Just add a microphone interface so we can interact with the game.. Im about 3 months into learning guitar having started with Justins videos. I have been following all the steps but struggled to put it all together. I decided to give this a go and have really been enjoying it for its simplicity. I have found that this has really helped move forward in the short amount of time Ive put into it as it helps me learn:

- to force the chord changes
- timing
- strumming patterns

I would like to see more acoustic friendly songs from the likes of Bowie, Creedance etc over the pop stuff, but thats just a personal preference, either way there is plenty in there to help develop rythm guitar skills.

Disclaimers: I own this game because I helped trouble shoot/bug fix/proof read an early version of it. I don't own a guitar, I don't really have much experience with Rock Band or Guitar Master games or types of games. In fact, those games never really appealed to me.

This game is really special and fantastic, though. "Guitar Karaoke" is exactly what you are getting here. Pick a song you like (there will be a song you like because there are tons of songs) and a video pops up showing you how to do each one of the basic chords in the song. The video is as fully featured as you could ask for, so whenever you are comfortable with all of the chords, you go on to the song. There is no points system at all, instead there is an option for a metronome, and tempo adjustments live on the fly if you are having trouble keeping up. This game is about helping you learn to play guitar, by playing guitar yourself, strumming out tracks everyone knows in about 10 minutes from telling Steam to download it. There are a robust range of tools available, and no gimmicky anything.

TLDR: it's more of a self help learn to play guitar program than a "game," but it's honestly really fantastic. I almost bought a real guitar because I played this game for free, true story.. So happy I stumbled on to this great app! Playing in a band I normally write and play my own songs but sometimes it's fun to play cover songs as well. FourChords is perfect for playing popular songs with my acoustic guitar. The songs included with the price provide a nice variety of pop and rock songs from different times. I even learned a new chord today by using the Pro Chords option. Highly recommended if your goal is to have fun playing songs with your guitar. If you are looking to learn detailed techniques for riffs and solos then there are better other options out there for that.. This is quite possibly the worst training system I have seen released for the guitar, now at the price point I was not expecting the quality of rocksmith but I was at least expecting something reasonably functional.

My advice would be to visit any guitar tab website instead, at least then the tab will be reasonably accurate, or buy one of the many tab pro variants for the same price.. This is what I needed. I've been learning by myself for about 3 months, I'm almost 40 yo and Day 1 of this 90-day period was the first time I picked up a guitar. I've already learned the basic chords and some riffs, and I am now in the boring part of developing muscle memory and being able to change chords faster. In the youtube videos that I watch to learn, the play-along part is usually very short, and more than often interrupted by comments or some other pauses for explanatory purposes. Maybe it's because uploaders don't want to have copyright problems so they rarely play a significant part the song for you to strum along. Only for that sole reason the game is worth the purchase: full uninterrupted songs to play along with.

That's one thing, and the other problem I was facing was related to singing. Everytime I opened my mouth to sing I completely lost control of my hands: it was terribly frustrating and pathetic to the eyes of anyone unlucky enough to be nearby during my practice sessions. The software makes it easier to practice and overcome this challenge: You have lyrics and chords shown in real-time, and after a couple of attempts I was singing and playing for the first time in my life!

Ah! And the strumming patterns are super easy to learn with this interface: If you are struggling with this particular skill, this game will be your salvation.

Don't give up and keep practicing. Cheers!

. updated DEC 2016 waaaaaaaay over priced for extra songs ;-(
Added strum traner Nice .

Its fun but I am not a beginner.

Runs great and stays in time :thumbsup:

Its not bad but not really a learning thing its just what it says it is karaoke.

The stumming thing takes you to Justinguitar for his lessons on strumming in the APP but goes nowhere here right now.

Yea. Justin

Would be worth the price if you got to pick the the 100 songs from their 1500 +song bank in the app.

I could not find how much or where to get additional songs from.

If I could pick my own 100 starting song book I would pay 20$ for this.

They do a good job explaining the APP in their "About this game"

But its Just an app despite being able to use it on you PC

But hey Justin Recomend it so who am I ;-)

Till the Pricing thing is sorted out.and made available.

I really cant recommend it right now.

Was gonna refund But ill keep it and see where it go's
Just because Justin has gave a lot to the guitar and music community

I got no answer from the DEV on pricing.

I played the android free version it is the same but you get no free songs and is 35.00 a year at 40% off right now or 4.99 a mo.
kinda steep IMO. So lets hope they dont go that way

There is no real instraments or sounds all electronically generated.<Not a
