Dreamweaver, HTML, and Web Page Templates Dreamweaver offers a built-in template system as well as support for import of various HTML-related programs, including CSS. This built-in template system makes Dreamweaver easy to use and prepares your website for working with it. We cover both Dreamweaver and CSS in Chapter 3. Dreamweaver also supports using programs such as Fireworks, Illustrator, and Photoshop as `_external_` (that is, non-Dreamweaver-created) templates.

You can import images and layers from these programs and paste them into a Dreamweaver document, where you can adjust them in Dreamweaver's template system. ## Photographers: Capturing the Good Stuff With the prevalence of affordable digital cameras, photographers can capture photos using a number of methods, including dSLR (digital single-lens reflex) and point-and-shoot. All photography methods enable you to use features such as spot and fill lighting, which enables you to add interesting lighting effects to a photo. `_Adjustments_` is used in the photography world to refer to a combination of techniques that you can use in an effort to improve a photo. Such adjustments include levels, white balance, and color, among others. You can use them to correct problems that may occur with exposure, contrast, color, and other factors, and you can also use them to intensify images by using an `_additive_` technique. Read more about these types of adjustments in the upcoming sections. Photoshop Elements offers the same adjustments as Photoshop.

Absence of cardiac vagal modulation of corticosterone secretion in mice. Corticosterone secretion increases after injection of stress-associated mediators such as benzodiazepines, angiotensin II and endotoxin, but the role of the vagus in this activity is not known. We tested whether cardiac vagal afferents were involved in the secretion of corticosterone induced by 2 minutes of hypoxia or restraint stress. For the first, 30 seconds of hypoxia resulted in a rapid increase in the plasma corticosterone concentration. Intravenous injection of the gamma-amino butyric acid (GABA) receptor antagonist bicuculline (0.5 mg/kg) blocked this increase. For restraint stress, an increase in the plasma corticosterone concentration was not observed until 30 minutes. Bicuculline (0.25 and 0.5 mg/kg) and the serotonergic neurotoxin 5,7-dihydroxytryptamine (20 mg/kg) significantly reduced the corticosterone response to restraint. We also tested whether activation of the HPA axis induced by administration of the beta-adrenergic agonist terbutaline results in cardiac vagal inhibition. Injection of terbutaline (20 mg/kg) into mice resulted in a 15% reduction in heart rate, but did not influence the corticosterone response to 2 minutes of hypoxia. These data suggest that the corticosterone response to 2 minutes of hypoxia may be mediated by enhanced GABA release from the brain stem, whereas restraint stress appears to act on the limbic system./* Licensed to the Apache Software Foundation (ASF) under one or more contributor license agreements. Q: excel formula for date - excel 1k user I have a formula that works in a monday/tuesday/wednesday/thursday/friday/saturday/sunday file for my coworkers. My manager wants it to be used in a user independent format. Is there a VB.net version of =TEXT(A2+5-WEEKDAY(A2,2), "mmmm dddd, yyyy")? Thanks in advance. A: A quick google search reveals the worksheet: ConvertDate. I believe it has the functionality that you are seeking. Nasal colonization by Streptococcus pneumoniae and high serum IgG levels against capsular polysaccharides may contribute to resistance to its acquisition. We examined the risk factors of nasopharyngeal colonization with Streptococcus pneumoniae. We interviewed 303 healthy children aged 5-7 years and found that nasopharyngeal colonization was approximately 4.5 times higher (odds ratio 4.5, 95% confidence interval 3.1-6.6) in children with high serum IgG (chicken and/or polysaccharide type-2) levels against S. pneumoniae-specific capsular polysaccharide (CP-2) than in those with low serum IgG. By using logistic regression, the relative risk (RR) of colonization was 1.0 (0.9-1.4), and that of seroconversion was 0.9 (0.6-1.4) in children with low serum IgG, compared to children with high serum IgG. The effects were stronger for children in the summer, with RR being 3.2 (2.0-5.2) and 0.5 (0.2-1.0), respectively. These data suggest that those who are naturally infected by S. pneumoniae have high serum IgG levels and are likely to be resistant to its acquisition.
